Librarian Prima Wusnack is surrounded by emptiness in the 'almost completed' new City County Library. Mrs. Wusnack told the Echo this week that target date for opening is July 1.

The delay, she said, has been caused by the installation of shelving, which according to a spokesman from the State Library Commission, must be done by their crew.

NSTL plans to welcome Navy proceed 'full steam ahead'

Further details of the flag-raising ceremony signaling the establishment of the Naval Oceanographic Center at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) on May 28 at 3 p.m. were released Friday by the manager, NSTL, and the Oceanographer of the Navy.

Attending the ceremony will be the Hon. J. William Middendorf, II, Secretary of the Navy; Herbert J. Rowe, NASA Associate Administrator for External Affairs; Sen. John C. Stennis; Congr. Trent Lott; Congr. Sonny Montgomery; and Rear Admiral J. Edward Snyder, Special Assistant to the Under Secretary of the Navy. A number of distinguished guests, including representatives of local communities, have also been invited. NSTL employees, their families, and the general public are extended a cordial invitation to witness the ceremony.

On behalf of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Rowe will welcome the guests to the ceremony and officially welcome the Naval Center as the newest Federal agency tenant at the NSTL.

Secretary Middendorf will officiate at the raising of the Navy flag following an introduction by Congr. Lott. Sen.

Stennis will also be a featured speaker. An informal reception in the main cafeteria, Building 1100, will follow the ceremony.

For the convenience of the visitors attending the ceremony, no passes will be required for entry to NSTL, and routes to the ceremonial area will be appropriately marked. The ceremony is planned to be conducted outdoors at the site flagpole, but in the event of inclement weather will be held in the NSTL Auditorium, Building 1200. Visitors should plan to arrive at the site not later than 2:45 p.m.

The Navy, which is transferring selected elements of its oceanographic programs to NSTL from the Washington, D.C., area, will join several other Federal and State agencies already in residence at NSTL involved in space and environmental technology. The Naval Oceanographic Center is composed of the Naval Oceanographic Office, commanded by Capt. James E. Ayres, USN, and the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity, commanded by Capt. Charles G. Darrell, USN. These activities will continue to provide operational oceanographic information and research and development support to the U.S. Navy's fleet operating forces.

At the present time, 167 Navy civilian employees (including 55 new personnel) and 12 military personnel are assigned to the two Navy activities at NSTL. The phased relocation plan calls for an additional 118 civilian personnel to be aboard by July 1. An additional 284 civilian employees and 10 military personnel will relocate between July 1 and December 31, with 183 more civilian personnel relocating between January and July, 1977.

The final increment of 495 personnel relocating between July 1, 1977, and June 30, 1978, would bring the new Center to full strength of 1,240 civilian and 32 military personnel.

It has been estimated that the Center complement of 1,240 would include about 400 civilian personnel vacancies, which would be filled by new employees to be hired by both Navy activities at NSTL. These vacancies will include approximately 80 professionals at the GS-12 or higher level and 320 below GS-12, including 100 clerical and 220 technical positions. The estimated 400 vacancies include the 55 positions already filled.

Injunction issued against Harold Stiglet

Chancellor William Hewes issued an injunction Friday barring Harold Stiglet of Bay St. Louis, an employee of Edmond Fahey Funeral Home, from working for any place of business which is in direct or indirect competition with his former employer, Riemann's Funeral Home, Gulfport.

Stiglet's attorney, Joe Sam Owen of Gulfport, who was notified of the judge's intention by mail, said a final decree will be issued next week.

The ruling came approximately two weeks after Owen and Riemann's attorney argued their cases in Hancock County Chancery Court.

The suit against Stiglet, which was filed by Robert M. Riemann charged the former Riemann employee with violating the terms of his contract which stipulated that he not be associated with another funeral home for two years following his disassociation with Riemann's. The suit also charged that Stiglet provided "trade secrets" including Riemann's customer accounts and training and personnel procedure to Fahey when he joined that firm.

During testimony, Stiglet said he was forced to sign the contract under threat of losing his job. He said that Riemann accosted him on the highway and had him sign the necessary papers then.

Chancellor Hewes is the second justice to hear the case. The first judge, Chancellor Frank Alexander, excused himself at the request of Owen due to his previous association with the plaintiff's attorney.

Three released from Hancock jail

The remaining four of eight men arrested two weeks ago and confined in Hancock County Jail under charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute were released under bond Thursday.

The three who posted bond Thursday were Jack P. Zatz, 38, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Stephen Tiemer, 27, Bradenton, Fla., and A. Barry Mathieson, 27, Detroit, Mich. Tiemer and Mathieson were released under $50,000 bond and Zatz under $75,000 bond.

Of the eight charged in connection with the seizure of 9.5 tons of marijuana during the May 12 raid, one, William T. Allan, 28, Boca Raton, Fla., demanded a preliminary hearing. He was bound over to await action of the July grand jury following the hearing last week which was conducted by Justice of the Peace Joe Dobson.

Loretta Bourgeois crowned Waveland Miss Hospitality

Loretta Bourgeois was crowned Waveland's Miss Hospitality in ceremonies Wednesday night at the American Legion Hall in Waveland. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bourgeois.

Miss Bourgeois was selected from among four young ladies from the Waveland area.

Madonna Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peterson, was chosen as first runnerup by judges Mrs. Garner B. Grennill, Brian J.M. Dye and Bro. Aquin Gauthier. Other contestants were Dianne Adams, and Vickie Rougeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rougeau.

The girls were judged on personality, charm and poise. Master of ceremonies Pete Chapman conducted a brief question and answer period with each of the girls. The contestants were required to answer extemporaneously questions concerning their ambitions, hobbies, and reasons for entering the Miss Hospitality contest.

Miss Bourgeois was crowned by Kim Lucas who served as Miss Hospitality for Waveland during the past year. Miss Bourgeois will now go on to compete for the title of State Miss Hospitality, who serves as hostess at various state functions and represents the state at fairs and conventions.

Miss Bourgeois is a 1976 graduate of Bay High and intends to enter Pearl River Junior College where she hopes to prepare for a career in modeling or fashion.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Maria Lott's School of Dance and by students from Saint Clare's who performed excerpts from their Bicentennial play.

State's personal income gain betters nation's, report shows

JACKSON -- Mississippi averaged a higher annual rate of increase in personal income between 1970 and 1975 than did the nation as a whole, according to data provided in the first edition of "The Governor's Report on the Mississippi Economy," a recently released publication of the R & D Center.

Designed to briefly survey briefly national and state patterns of economic activity in 1975, the report was developed at the request of, and through partial funding, by the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs. Through an extensive use of figures and tables, elected officials and other decision makers are given a quick-reference statistical analysis, including an overview of the projected economic strength of both the United States and Mississippi in 1976.

Findings reflect a continuing confidence in Mississippi's economic future, and the report forecasts a rate of growth in the total output of goods and services slightly greater than that of the national economy. Despite a period of rising employment and increasing income between 1970 and 1975, however, the gap has widened between the state's per capita income and the higher averages for the other southeastern states, as well as for the nation as a whole.

Looking at the state's economic output in 1976, the study projects that manufacturing, which already is Mississippi's largest employment sector and most substantial source of income, will once again be the strongest sector.

The number of farm workers in the state continued to decline over the 1970-75 period, the report shows. Although total farm acreage remained relatively steady, the number of farms decreased at a rate of approximately 1,000 per year. The increasing size of the average farm continued to lead to new and improved technology in farm production and to a drop in farm labor demands.

Compiled by H. Wayne Foster of the Center's Economic Analysis Division, "The Governor's Report on the Mississippi Economy" is a new effort at providing additional insight into the economic condition of Mississippi and the United States.

Copies may be obtained by contacting the Public Information Office, R & D Center, P. O. Drawer 2470, Jackson, MS 39205, telephone 982-6466.

From The Barber's Shop

By Nathan Barber

First Baptist Church Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Several years ago we were all quite conscious of the "special" new language used by the people involved in the space program. Like other things, that language is now just taken for granted. About the time the space language was popular, Bennie Rhodes, in the "Baptist Program" magazine suggested some new definitions (or is that "daffynitions") for many space age phrases. I found them to be delightfully humorous and reflective concerning the life of a local church. Let me share them with you.

ALL SYSTEMS GO-The Sunday morning service is about to begin.

MISSION CONTROL-Heaven.

AGE OF SPACE-The way the auditorium looks on Sunday night.

SCRUBBED-Visitation called off due to lack of interest.

APOGEE-Church membership list.

ARTIFICIAL GRAVITY-The look on everyone's face when you announce you're going to preach on tithing.

DID YOU READ ME-What the discarded bulletin might say if it were alive.

PARENT CRAFT-Learning how to get along with the Sunday School children's parents.

ECHO 1, ECHO 2-The preacher's jokes.

"G" FORCE-Pressure exerted by a soloist who wants to sing.

GROUND ZERO-The pulpit.

RADIATION BELT-The area around the pulpit.

JOINT COOPERATION IN SPACE-Congregational singing.

MOON-Expression on pianist's face when she hits the wrong note.

TRACKING SYSTEM-Church secretary.

SURVEYOR-Pulpit committee.

FIVE-MINUTE HOLD-The invitation.

RETURN TO EARTH-Standing at the door after the service.

ESCAPE VELOCITY-Speed at which the people leave the church.

BURNED OUT BOOSTER-The preacher, about ten o'clock Sunday night.

Ten-nine-eight-by-the-way!-I'm hoping that the new Space Shuttle Program will suggest to some people a whole new approach to attendance at church. You see, for years many folks have followed the Apollo and Saturn approach to church space.

With their payload, the Apollo and Saturn space vehicles were limited to a one-time mission. The Space Shuttle Program, on the other hand, is in the process of developing a vehicle which will be able to make many trips and carry out many missions in space. Perhaps many people who have been making their annual Apollo or Saturn trip to the church house for worship around Christmas or Easter will come to realize that when it comes to church space, the Shuttle Program is, by far, the best way to go! Three-two-one-LIFTOFF!

Leslie Gleber
"Go to my cousins and climb trees. We are going to act like monkeys!"

Andrea Ambrose
"Swimming!"

Donna Everitt
"Go swimming, play, ride bikes, get prettier!"

Dee Dee Strong
"Summer - why have loads of fun."

We visit OLG to take yea or nay vacation poll

This week Sunday Echoes visited Grade One at Our Lady of the Gulf Elementary School in the Bay. We asked 12 of the class to help in a poll.

The question was, "Are you glad you are getting out of school for vacations?"

Poll results were: Glad to be leaving school - 7; Sooner stay in school for summer - 5. No opinion - 0. The "Ayes" have it. School will recess.

Asked what they intended to do, or where they would go, over recess, OLG Grade One replied:

Billy Kimbrell
"I am going to ride a motor bike - and I am going to speed on my motor bike!"

William Ross
"I intend to play with Michael and Romy!"

Allen Harrell
"Have lots of fun going fishing too."

Elizabeth Englert
"This summer I am going to the beach, going swimming, and going to play 'mothers' with my friends."

Melissa Moran
"What am I going to do over summer?" "Play!"

Angelle Circans
"Go on vacation to Disney World!"

OLG helper

Tommy Seureneau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Seureneau, hauled equipment about during film shooting at OLG. Tommy's fingerprints appear on much of film, the rolls, canisters, holders, lights, cameras, and lenses. He allowed photography was pretty much an easy game and therefore one that might attract his attention.

Susanne Hille
"This summer I am going to ride bikes, go swimming, sing songs and go shopping."

Kelli Lee

"Over summer holidays I am going to see my daddy who is working in Baton Rouge, go swimming, and play Goody Golf!"

Tracing this time of year can be tricky, especially if the driver parts over an ant hill to eat lunch. Involved in handling tricky controls of this machine is Cynthia Eisenhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eisenhardt of Sidel, frequent competitor at horse show events at Hancock County Fair Grounds.
